

Miinhl Lax Daaw

Clint Barton

Simgigat, Sigidimhaanak', Miinhl Lax Daawhl way', Laxsgiik n'iiy', wilps Kw'akaans wil w'itgwiy', Vancouver wil jogay'.
Clint Barton, born and raised in the Nisga'a Nation.

My given name is Clint Barton. My family and I relocated to the Metro Vancouver area September of 2018. My wife and I have 3 beautiful children, 2 daughters and a son.

I've worked in the public service sector for 21 years.

As a strong advocate for social justice and supporting and amplifying Indigenous voices, my work as an indigenous cultural advisor, consultant and advocate involves building strong, respectful, reciprocal relationships with all Indigenous peoples throughout Turtle Island.

This important work allows me to engage numerous Nations within BC including Host Nations and Urban Indigenous communities. This work is carried out diligently with the guidance of the Elders. The goals and objectives (as many parts of my life) is to enhance, shift, change and challenge "systems" of oppression that result in culturally safe and appropriate services and spaces being created for our Indigenous peoples.